This is a civil action filed pro se by a state prison inmate.¹ Plaintiff is currently incarcerated at the Ridgeland Correctional Institution, part of the South Carolina Department of Corrections (SCDC) prison system. In his Complaint, Plaintiff seeks damages from Defendant, a Lake City Municipal judge, based on the judge's involvement in the issuance of an arrest warrant under which Plaintiff was arrested and detained on grand larceny charges of which he was ultimately acquitted. Plaintiff alleges that the arrest warrant that was issued in April 2010 violated his Fourth Amendment rights, but he does not actually allege what was wrong with the warrant other than the fact that he was ultimately acquitted on the charge. He seeks $ 950, 000.00 in compensatory damages and an additional $ 250, 000.00 in punitive damages for alleged false imprisonment, misconduct, and for Defendant's alleged intent to slander, deceit or deceive. ECF No. 1 at 5.

Pro Se Review

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of Plaintiff's pro se Complaint filed in this case. This review has been conducted pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § § 1915, 1915A, and the Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1996 (“PLRA”), and in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Md. House of Corr., 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995) (en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983); Boyce v. Alizaduh, 595 F.2d 948 (4th Cir. 1979).

Pro se complaints are held to a less stringent standard than those drafted by attorneys, Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978), and a federal district court is charged with liberally construing a complaint filed by a pro se litigant to allow the development of a potentially meritorious case. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89 (2007). When a federal court is evaluating a pro se complaint, the plaintiff’s allegations are assumed to be true. De’Lonta v. Angelone, 330 F. 3d 630, 630 n.1 (4th Cir. 2003). Even under this less stringent standard, the Complaint filed in this case is subject to summary dismissal under the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B), which requires the court to dismiss a case in which litigant seeks to proceed in forma pauperis at any time it determines the action fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted. See also Weller v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 901 F.2d 387, 391 (4th Cir. 1990) (noting requirement of liberal construction does not mean court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts that set forth a claim cognizable in a federal district court).

Analysis

Plaintiff’s Complaint, which seeks damages from Judge Christopher Nowlin based on the performance of his judicial duties in connection with the issuance of the April 2010 grand larceny arrest warrant, is barred by the doctrine of judicial immunity. As the Fourth Circuit has stated relevant to the reasons for the doctrine of absolute immunity for judges:

The absolute immunity from suit for alleged deprivation of rights enjoyed by judges is matchless in its protection of judicial power. It shields judges even against allegations of malice or corruption. . . . The rule is tolerated, not because corrupt or malicious judges should be immune from suit, but only because it is recognized that judicial officers in whom discretion is entrusted must be able to exercise discretion vigorously and effectively, without apprehension that they will be subjected to burdensome and vexatious litigation.

McCray v. Maryland, 456 F.2d 1, 3 (4th Cir. 1972) (citations omitted), overruled on other grounds, Pink v. Lester, 52 F.3d 73, 77 (4th Cir. 1995).

The doctrine of absolute immunity for acts taken by a judge in connection with his or her judicial authority and responsibility is well established and widely recognized. See Mireles v. Waco, 502 U.S. 9, 11-12 (1991) (judges are immune from civil suit for actions taken in their judicial capacity, unless “taken in the complete absence of all jurisdiction.”); Stump v. Sparkman, 435 U.S. 349, 359 (1978)(“A judge is absolutely immune from liability for his judicial acts even if his exercise of authority is flawed by the commission of grave procedural errors.”); Pressly v. Gregory, 831 F.2d 514, 517 (4th Cir. 1987) (a suit by South Carolina inmate against two Virginia magistrates); Chu v. Griffith, 771 F.2d 79, 81 (4th Cir. 1985) (“It has long been settled that a judge is absolutely immune from a claim for damages arising out of his judicial actions.”).

Plaintiff cannot recover damages from Judge Nowlin even though Plaintiff was ultimately acquitted on the charge on which the subject arrest warrant issued. The consideration of evidence presented by law enforcement and ruling on whether or not it supports a warrant are obvious duties performed by a municipal judge. They are certainly “judicial duties,” and, as shown in the cases cited above, damages cannot be awarded against the issuing judge based on his legal decisions and rulings. Because Judge Nowlin is the only Defendant named in this case and because he is entitled to judicial immunity for the activities on which the Complaint is based, Plaintiff's Complaint should be summarily dismissed without the service on Defendant.

Recommendation

Accordingly, it is recommended that the court dismiss the Complaint in this case without prejudice. See Denton v. Hernandez; Neitzke v. Williams; Haines v. Kerner; Brown v. Briscoe, 998 F.2d 201, 202-04 (4th Cir. 1993); Boyce v. Alizaduh; Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d at 74; see also 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B); 28 U.S.C. § 1915A (as soon as possible after docketing, district courts should review prisoner cases to determine whether they are subject to summary dismissal).

IT IS SO RECOMMENDED.
